

Streamline the peer review process.

PowerScribe 360 automated peer review solution

Challenge

How can healthcare facilities meet peer review quality requirements while maximizing efficiency for radiologists? Instituting a formal, accredited peer review program is generally the first step, and includes several key elements:

- A process that allows for regular, random selection of studies for review
- Double reading by two radiologists
- A four-point scoring scale
- Summary statistical data for each physician
- Quality improvement policies

Manual processes involved in managing peer review can make it difficult to operationalize these programs consistently and effectively. Often there is also radiologist pushback due to workflow interruptions that hamper productivity.

Solution

PowerScribe® 360 Peer Review is a valuable tool that can assist facilities in their efforts to maintain ACR accreditation. The Nuance solution provides a seamlessly integrated workflow that improves radiologist efficiency by streamlining the peer review process and improving compliance. Prior reports can be evaluated while viewing and interpreting current images via automated prompting or manual invocation, using ACR-standardized four-point rating scale with clinical significance indicators. Policies can be set and more consistently followed.

The final peer review data can also be exported from the PowerScribe 360 Administrator Portal and sent electronically to the ACR eRADPEER™ submission system. By providing an automated peer review solution for facilities which support ACR RADPEER™,* PowerScribe 360 Peer Review automates quality improvements throughout your radiology department or practice.
